

4 July 2005

Following the certification audit by BSI, Chemial UK Ltd has been given ISO 14001:2004 certification n° EMS 89004. The conformity to the ISO environmental management system standard has been verified for the activities of the English company of the Chemical Group in its Leek site, where acetates, fatty esters, organic salts and other niche chemical products are manufactured.

The commitment and attention to the environment of the Chemical Group represents a further element of stability and consistency of supply for its customers. The Chemical Group strongly believes that distinctive customer service and responsiveness to customers' needs do also mean constant care towards all the environmental aspects of its activities, through the continuous involvement of all its employees and the continuous encouragement of its suppliers' attention. The successful introduction of the ISO 14001 standard gives the customers another good reason for considering the Chemical Group their preferred niche chemicals supplier.